

COCKPIT
Explorer

The Explorer is a consistent expansion of the KLUDI COCKPIT shower system family. Like its ‘big brother’, COCKPIT Discovery, the latest family member epitomises a combination of outstanding ease of use, processing of premium materials and meticulous manufacturing quality ‘Made in Germany’. The compact thermostat fitting leaves a lot of room, making the COCKPIT Explorer ideal even for smaller showers and renovation projects. Another bonus: the head shower not only swivels freely, but is also adjustable in height, just like the hand shower – for an even more individual shower experience.

KLUDI COCKPIT Explorer prioritises ease of use. The operation is reduced to two prominent controls on the front of the fitting that lets users set the water volume and temperature of the head and hand shower simply by turning them – it is intuitive, convenient and effortless.

Both controls are inclined to the rear, keeping them within the user’s sight and reach. This makes it – as demonstrated by ergonomic tests – even easier to use. The feel and design also ensures reliable and precise handling.

Individual shower experience for all of your senses: The large head shower does not just swivel freely, but is also adjustable in height up to 25cm. That allows it to be optimally configured for every ceiling height. An integrated ball joint also lets the angle of the spray head to be individually adjusted.

Just as you want and need: The height of the hand shower can also be changed to match the respective user preferences.

The KLUDI COCKPIT Explorer
combines optimised ergonomics with a new, attractive design.

Completely safe to touch: Thanks to the 'Touch Proof' technology, the complete thermal decoupling of the control unit ensures optimal protection against scalding.
